Being Lead In New Directions B.L.I.N.D.

by James Alonzo

Charles Carson and Casey Leitson, Youth Outreach workers for Safe Streets Serve as Mentor and Role - Models for youth involved in the B.L.I.N.D group. These youth develop and initiate community based projects which focus on the issues of Youth violence, drugs, family dysfunctions and other issues which affect their generation. B.L.I.N.D was established by the ideas of youth involved in the Safe Street Youth Violence Intervention and Prevention program. The operation and project ideas are strictly youth initiated. Adults involved serve only as Mentor Role - Models and provide for youth the training, education, and opportunity to speak out for themselves and to give what they have learned back to the community. B.L.I.N.D. sees and respects all color and differences and invites any young person to become involved. For more information, call Safe Streets at 272-6824.
