Layoff notices sent to FD 16 employees

By Marsha Hart, KP News

Half of the Fire District 16 employees will be receiving layoff notices by June 1. During the May 11 Fire District 16 commissioner meeting, chief Tom Lique announced that the notices were being prepared for 14 of the 28 employees, and layoffs would be effective Sept. 30.

It's an effort to allow those employees to plan, in case the Emergency Medical Services levy fails in August. As the current 10-year levy is set to expire this year, voters will go to the polls in August to vote to either continue the levy for another 10 years or stop it.

If the levy fails, Lique said the department would no longer guarantee ambulance service without enough personnel to staff it.

"If the levy passes it leaves us right where we are today going into 2011," Lique said. "It's 50 cents on every thousand dollars of assessed property value. For a $250,000 home it is $125 a year.

"It's a tax everyone is already paying, and has been for the last 10 years," Lique said.

If the levy fails, it could mean the end of ambulance services.

"If the renewal fails to go through, it will be almost $1.3 million cut in my budget, so right now the EMS part of the department provides 32 percent of our revenue."

The commissioners have gone through a workshop to determine what it could mean for the department if the levy fails. They have recommended that Lique begin shopping for private ambulance services for the Key Peninsula, but he said it doesn't look promising.

"In past conversations we've never gotten a guarantee that a private ambulance service will put an ambulance on the Key Peninsula," he said. "They may agree to respond, but they will come from somewhere other than Key Center."

FD 16 personnel would still respond to an emergency and be committed to stay with that patient until ambulance service could arrive, Lique said. However it could potentially mean delays in fire response.

"Even if we can't transport we would render care and be committed to them until the ambulance came," Lique said. "It could cause a ripple effect delay in our entire system following that format."

In the past, Lique said there have been lags in response time.

"On at least two occasions when we've

State campground hosts needed

OLYMPIA - The Washington State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is recruiting enthusiastic, reliable, and committed volunteers who would like to serve as unpaid campground hosts at some of the recreation areas DNR manages across Washington State. Camp hosts provide a positive, helpful, safe, and informative DNR presence for visitors. Hosts have two primary duties to conduct general campground maintenance and to act as a primary point of contact for campers. All hosts must complete Basic First Aid training and pass a Washington State Patrol criminal background check. While each DNR campground has unique characteristics and natural features, the sites are all considered rustic or primitive. Each site's amenities vary. If you are interested in volunteering for the DNR as a campground host, please call Christine Redmond, DNR's Volunteer Program Coordinator, at 360-902-1632.

Key Peninsula may lose bus service

By Rick Sorrels, KP News

The Pierce Transit Board of Commissioners will soon decide whether to have the voters consider a .3 percent increase in sales tax to preserve existing bus service, or to reduce or eliminate bus service to various areas. Key Peninsula is at risk of losing all bus service. The closest bus stop would be the Purdy Park and Ride.

The current year budget for Pierce Transit is $119 million. This is a revenue drop of $40 million since 2007.

Revenue comes from sales tax (70 percent), fair box receipts (18 percent), and state and federal grants (10 percent).

Terry Lee, who represents the Key Peninsula on the Pierce County Council, is also the Chair of the Pierce Transit Board.

"The Pierce Transit Board will make the decision whether routes will be changed, or if a sales tax change goes to the voters," said Lee. "We have not made the decision yet. A vote to change the tax would not go to the voters until November or February. For a November vote, a decision would need to be made no later than early August.

"If voters approve a sales tax increase, we will be able to retain all existing bus service, and even add some additional service," said Lee. "Without a sales tax increase, we have no choice other than to cut service in order to live within our budget."

A proposal submitted by Pierce Transit staff would eliminate all bus service on the Key Peninsula, including service for seniors and the disabled.

"I strongly oppose reducing any service on the KP," said Lee. "Other Board members and I are in favor of extending routes to include outlying small communities, but this would come at a cost of reduced service to the inner cities.

"Decisions have not been made yet, and will be the subject of much discussion over the coming months."

Faced with proposed service reductions, five Pierce County cities (Bonney Lake, Orting, Buckley, Steilacoom, and Dupont) have threatened to withdraw from the Pierce Transit District if service to their communities is cut.

Lars Erickson, the Public Relations official for Pierce Transit, says, "Withdrawal from the Pierce Transit District does not return the sales tax receipts to the cities affected. The tax is still collected, the law simply prescribes a different distribution other than to Pierce Transit."

Washington law describes a procedure where cities can request and initiate a "public transportation improvement conference" in order to redefine the boundaries of the area served by Pierce Transit.

Lee said, "It is still unclear if unincorporated areas of Pierce County have the same rights as cities to determine the service area. The attorneys are still researching this."

The only sure recourse that KP residents now have is to make their needs and opinions known before decisions are made, he said.

"The public is welcome to call me, but I already have taken an active position to maintain service on the KP," said Lee. "Other members of the Board are better targets for public comments."

Councilmember Lee can be reached at 798-6654. Barb Shatz is the Clerk for the Pierce Transit Board, and can be reached at 983-3438. Request that she make note of your comments and forward them to the whole Board. Public can testify at any board meeting. Board meetings are on the second Monday of each month at 4 p.m. at the Pierce Transit facilities located at 3720 96th St. SW, Lakewood.

Approximately 100 persons attended the May 10 Pierce Transit Board meeting. Dozens of citizens all spoke out against any reduction in service.

KP Parks seeks input on comprehensive plan

Key Pen Parks will address the six-year comprehensive plan during regular board meetings from June to September. The comprehensive plan is designed to guide staff, current and future elected officials on the planning and development of Key Pen Parks.

Key Pen Parks is seeking public comments for the plan. The meetings will be held at Volunteer Park Annex the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. A copy of the current comprehensive plan is available at the Park District website www.keypenparks.com or contact the office.

For more information call 884-9240 or email scottg@keypenparks.com

Stream Team seeks volunteers

Volunteers are needed to collect samples from county streams. A three-hour workshop is scheduled for June 19 to teach volunteers the technique for collecting samples. The samples are analyzed for specific types of macroinvertebrates found at each site.

Pierce County factors the date into the final grade given to the local streams in the annual state of the streams reports.

Volunteers will collect samples in streams during the summer.

To register for the workshop contact the stream team at (253) 845-2973 or email streamteam@piercecouny.org.

Landscape tips to deter fire

Wildfire season is coming sooner than we may think, and now is the time to consider fire-resistant landscaping techniques that can help keep your home safe, especially if you live near a forest.

In 2009, Western Washington recorded its highest fire danger on July 29 (104 degrees in Olympia.) Statewide, there were 1,044 fires totaling approximately 17,203 acres.

Whether you are doing yard maintenance or landscape design, these tips can help to keep your property safe.

*Use plants with high moisture content (deciduous) nearest the home

An example of how to create defensible space around your home to help prevent fire damage.

*Trim tree branches away from the home

*Keep vegetation, including the lawn, around the home low and green

*Limb trees at least six feet above the ground to reduce the chances that a fire on the ground will spread into tree tops - this is especially important if your property has lots of trees

*Keep decorative ground covers such as beauty bark away from direct contact with your home - bark and wood chip ground covers can smolder

*Trim back trees and shrubbery around structures so that fire crews and their vehicles will have safe access in an emergency. Trees, shrubs, grasses and other vegetation provide fuel for fires.

Reducing or eliminating vegetation close to structures creates a defensible space against a wildfire.

Another idea is to add firebreaks in the landscape design. Examples of firebreaks include concrete, brick or gravel walkways, concrete flower box borders or planters, and perhaps water features, such as a pond. Even the backyard swimming pool can serve as a firebreak.

EMS levy campaign heats up

For 10 years residents of the Key Peninsula have been paying taxes that fund an Emergency Medical Service levy. The levy has been providing money to offset any expense for ambulance service to residents. Patients who live on the Key Peninsula don't have any out-of-pocket expense for the transport to area hospitals. The levy picks up the tab for what a patient's insurance doesn't pay.

That EMS levy will expire at the end of the year, and a renewal will be on the ballot in August. Expect the issue to get heated in the coming months. In these situations the facts can sometimes become blurred, so here are things to remember and consider.

According to FD 16 Fire Chief Tom Lique, without the levy funding there won't be enough staff to man the ambulance service 24-7.

In case the levy fails, Lique has begun to send layoff notices to 14 of the FD 16 staff and is also looking for private ambulance companies to serve the Key Peninsula.

A yes vote on the levy in August will keep the current FD 16 ambulance.

First, by voting no it will mean the end of FD 16 ambulance service. If that happens, other agencies that currently have a mutual aid agreement with FD 16, including Mason County, Gig Harbor and South Kitsap, will view the agreement as broken. Lique said those agencies won't respond to our needs if FD 16 has no unit to respond to them when they are in need.

Instead the KP will have a private ambulance. It is possible this private service will be headquartered somewhere other than the Key Peninsula, making the response time longer than that of FD 16.

That will also mean that residents who are transported to a hospital will receive a bill from that ambulance service.

And a couple of questions to think about for the next couple of months:

Do you want to continue paying a tax you have been paying the last 10 years to support everyone in the community who may need ambulance service from FD 16, which is headquartered on the Key Peninsula?

Do you prefer to pay as you go, get rid of the ambulance on the Key Peninsula and instead have an "Each man is on his own," type of situation where only those who use the ambulance pay for it?

One more question to ponder. Do you prefer to have the responders who know the area, and know how to find those hidden driveways out here on the Key Peninsula, or is it acceptable to have responders who don't live here, don't work here, and possibly respond from somewhere in Tacoma?

The decision is ours to make. Voters will determine whether FD 16 will have an ambulance service.

Key Pen voices needed

In the coming months Key Pen Parks will be conducting meetings to address the comprehensive plan. It is a six-year plan that is meant to guide the future for planning and development of our parks.

Though everyone seems to agree that parks are important, few of the residents turn out for these public meetings that directly affect how the parks will be shaped for the future.

Our children and grandchildren will be affected by the way the Key Peninsula parks are designed and planned, and the way those designs and plans are implemented.

The parks commissioners are elected officials, and are there to listen to the community and move forward with what the community wants to for recreational activities on the Key Peninsula.

Your voice is needed, and everyone is welcome to attend the public meetings.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Community responded to library in need

During the last month of my term as president of the Friends of the Key Center Library, I wrote a news brief entitled "Friends send SOS," I believe. We were in need of book donations; our sale shelves in the library lobby nearly empty. The communities of the KP responded with generosity, and our shelves are now full again. One person in particular who donated books provides assurances for the future of books, reading, and libraries. After reading the article, eight year old Olivia (we have permission to use her name) selected volumes from among her own books and asked the relative she was visiting to donate them to the Friends of the KC Library. Many thanks to Olivia, and everyone else who responded.

My best,

*Chris Fitzgerald,
former President, Friends of KC Library*

KP needs EMS levy

Two weeks ago my husband fell and broke his hip. This time it took about 15-20 minutes for them to show up. Why? Because of the levy failure and Yannity, we are now down to ONE MEDIC ONE for the entire Key Peninsula. What would you have done if someone in your family had a life threatening injury while our ONE MEDIC ONE was hauling someone else in? Wait until Gig Harbor or Ollala could get someone out to help? We need our fire department back the way it was before Yannity spewed his poisoned influences. The levy would cost a homeowner with a $250k house just $40 a year. $40! Being on a fixed income I sure would come up with $40 to make sure my family was safe! Come on people, vote yes on the levy!

Eva Griffin 853-6477

Thank you Key Peninsula for supporting your parks!

The staff at Key Pen Parks would like to thank the community for the support we received for the 2010 Parks Appreciation Day. We had a total of 143 volunteers at 7 sites with 279 hours in volunteer time. We want to extend our gratitude to our site leaders and other local community groups who helped make this a successful event.

Site Leaders: Jerry and Marilyn Harley, John Buckles, Lloyd Miller and James Allyn, Barb Trotter, Tony Beckett, Kim Sutherin, and Dennis Taylor. Groups: A special THANK YOU to our LDS members, The Key Center Ward, for preparing lunch, Albertsons, Jeff Charboneau, Lakebay Fuchsia Society, Historical Society, Boy Scouts, Key Peninsula Tennis Club, Sunnycrest Nursery, Girl Scouts, Peninsula Youth Council, West Sound Disc Golf Association, YMCA Friends & Servants of the Key Peninsula, and the Peninsula Lutheran Church Youth for their support! Peninsula Tennis Club and all of our community members for your leadership!

Thank you

Thank you to all who attended Dick Radonich's memorial. Some of you brought food, shared wonderful memories. And to the people who made the outside beautiful with their plantings and mowing, we thank you. Our family deeply appreciated all the help this community provides.

Marge Radonich and her girls.

Let's find the litter bug

For the second time in two months, someone has dumped a boat on the road I live off of. And, because it was handy, as of this morning, someone had topped it off with a couple of tires, a plastic wading pool and some other assorted garbage.

Before and in between the watercraft we have had roofing materials, construction waste and assorted appliances dumped and left for us, the taxpayers, to pay to dispose of. Our children walk this road from the bus stop. We have had propane type tanks, five gallon buckets of who knows what and other potentially dangerous items dumped here, too. I am afraid of what may show up next.

So if you know someone who recently re-roofed, and is bragging about getting rid of there waste or their old 16 foot Bayliner for free in the middle of the night, report them to the police. Enough is enough!

KP business expands, adds inventory

By Karen Lovett, KP News

The shop located on the corner of 134th Avenue and the Key Peninsula Highway now has double the size of its original space. The store has been open for a year and a half.

Owner Becky Olsen spent three months working after hours, sometimes all night long in order to finish the renovation. Carpets now cover the floors.

Olsen said, "I ran out of time and money to refinish the floors. The best thing about the expansion is now we have a bathroom and water. We used to have to borrow the bathroom on the other side of the building. Now there is a lot more room for consignments and furniture as well as sale items."

Every nook, cranny and bit of wall space is filled with unique antiques and collectibles; imports as well as items made in the USA. Books, crystal, copperware, dolls, dish towels, lamps toys, dishes, farm and kitchen implements, games, and countless other items line the shelves, cabinets and walls.

In addition to the wide array of collectibles, cards and gifts, the shop features artwork and products of local businesses, including Jake's Coffee—a very popular brand, she said. Beads, jewelry, fine quality home sewn children's clothing, Cow Poke spice rubs, candles, Sugar Scrubs bath products, and many other locally produced goods are also available, and there is a special men's department.

"I like to support the local artists and businesses," Becky said.

Elevated planter boxes a hit for Nilsen Woodworks

Digging and planting can be therapeutic activities, and Magnus Nilsen wants people of all abilities to have the opportunity to garden with his specially designed planter boxes and potting benches.

By Danna Webster, KP News

It is easy for seniors to play around in the dirt with new elevated planter boxes made at Nilsen Woodworks, a Key Peninsula business. Owner Magnus Nilsen offered three boxes to Sound Vista Village Assisted Independent Living in Gig Harbor to test his idea. Sound Vista Village nurse, Jenny Hokenson says, "They work great. They have flowers growing in them. They have herbs growing in them." The elevated boxes are built to accommodate gardeners: short and tall, with a walker or with a wheelchair. They are built on stable and sturdy stands to prevent tipping, with rounded corners, 33 inches high and 7 inches deep.

Sound Vista Executive Director Jerry Lee, helped Nilsen modify his boxes for senior residents. Lee met Nilsen at a Gig Harbor Chamber of Commerce event and arranged for Nilsen to bring a mock planter prototype to the facility. Together they determined a good accessible height using a wheel chair and a measuring tape. They recruited residents to pretend to use the garden boxes so they were not too tall. We wanted a "planter box for everybody's needs: walkers, wheelchairs, short or tall — as user friendly as possible," says Lee. Nilsen spent a Saturday planting with resident gardeners and also donated a planter station where gardeners can work on potting. "When they get their hands in the soil, that's a therapeutic thing," Lee said, "He did a phenomenal job."

Nilsen said he wanted to build a planter where seniors could "play around in the dirt a little." He started his wood-working business when he and his wife, Linda, came to the Key Peninsula in 2004. They moved, with his mother, from northern California to reunite their family with his brother in Shelton and his sister in Gig Harbor. Their two sons are finishing college degrees in California. were developed by a career building software support program for Xerox; but he credits his father with teaching him how to plan ahead for production run and quality wood working. He and his father built up to five boats a week in the South San Francisco area prior to Nilsen's military and engineering careers.

According to Nilsen, every year gets better and he is getting a lot of repeat business. He likes working with cedar and has an inventory that includes arbors, outdoor dining tables, benches, swing glides, and horse-mounting staircases. Most recently, he has added a "C and C machine" to the workshop. Its computer numerically-controlled programs produce carved pictures and signs.

"What really gives me pleasure and drives me on is customer satisfaction," said Nilsen who especially enjoys customized orders. "I try to put quality into it. I would like it to be the way I would want it. I've built a lot of stuff for people sight unseen, and not had anybody disappointed yet," he said.

SUMMER IS HERE

By Kelly Maxfield, KP News

As families are still feeling the effects of a difficult economy, there will likely be fewer families taking vacations and more staycations. There are many opportunities for a fun staycation this year on the Key Peninsula. We've worked hard to put together as many ideas as possible from summer camps and vacation Bible schools, to spas and summer concerts in nearby Gig Harbor. See pages 9, 10 and 12 for more information on Summer on the Peninsulas.

Spa options on the KP and Gig Harbor Peninsulas

The Key Peninsula and Gig Harbor area offers numerous choices if you are looking to be pampered by spa industry professionals. What could be better than a couple of hours spent on relaxation? As the weather heats up and summer clothing and sandals are brought out of storage, visit one of the many local businesses that specialize in gifts for the body,

A local favorite is Urban Escape Salon and Wellness Spa which has been in operation for over nine years. The spa is located in the Gateway Pointe Business Park on Jahn Avenue near the Narrows Bridge. Owner Kailani Kim has created an atmosphere of harmony and well-being with cozy couches and soothing wall paint in the waiting area. With over 5,000 square feet of space, the spa has the capacity to accommodate larger groups such as bridal, prom, and birthday parties. "We are a full-service head to toe spa dedicated to the celebration of beauty," says Kim. Services include hair, massage and body treatments, waxing, manicures, pedicures, permanent make-up tattoo and lash perms. The spa is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. For more information visit the website at www.urbanespacesalon.net or call 253-851-8110.

9 Essentials Day Spa is located in The Shops at Harbor Hill development near Costco. Owner Jasmine Wall has created a tastefully decorated spa that offers silk and acrylic nails, manicures, pedicures, waxing, permanent makeup, facials, massage, and tanning. Jasmine has a dedicated following of local women as she is known for quick, yet quality nail enhancements. Her crew is friendly and knows their craft providing quality services at good prices. The spa phone number is 253-514-6229.

Massage Envy is in the new Gig Harbor Uptown area off Point Fosdick Drive Northwest.

They offer multiple types of therapy in a relaxing setting including deep tissue, reflexology, and hot stone massages. The cost for your first visit is $39. If you decide to join their membership, a $59 per month fee entitles you to a single one hour massage per month. If you cannot use your monthly massage for any reason, it can be used at a later date. As a member, you may buy additional visits for $39 per hour or $57 per 90 minute visit. A popular offering is the couple's room where two people at a time can have a massage. The location

Summer Concerts and Entertainment off the Peninsula

Sharon Hicks, KP News

Gig Harbor will offer a multitude of concerts and Outdoor Cinemagic from June through August. The annual Maritime Gig kicks off the summer on June 5 and 6. It is the Peninsula's oldest and largest festival where thousands of people attend each year for the parade, 5k, 10k, Kids Fun Run, concessions, entertainment and the traditional Blessing of the Fleet on Sunday. Summer Sounds at Skansie will run every Tuesday from June 22 through Aug. 24. Outdoor movies begin in July. Donkey Creek Park Date Night movies will be July 9 and 23, Aug. 7 and 29. Bring the whole family for Family Movie Night at Skansie Brothers Park, July 10, and 24 and Aug. 21. The movies are free, sponsored by CenturyLink, St. Anthony Hospital and MultiCare Gig Harbor Medical Park.

Fox Island will have a Market at the Nichols Community Center June 5 and July 10 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission and parking are free with a playground for the kids. There will be over 40 booths with a lot to offer. Fox Island Fair is Aug. 14 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., offering a variety of handcrafted items, games, book sales, horticultural displays, and Bingo to name a few.

The Harbor WildWatch will present a "Get Your Feet Wet" program with touch-tanks at the Gig Harbor Farmers Market on June 9 and 30, July 7, 21, 28 and Aug. 4 and 18. Also at Skansie Brothers Park during the Gig Maritime Festival, June 5 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. This is a hands-on interpretive program where marine life species common to Puget Sound are brought in from local beaches for children to touch, feel and learn. Such programs will also be held at Kopachuck, Penrose, Joemma, and Manchester State Parks. Check harborwildwatch.org for dates at each location.

Walk the streets of Gig Harbor, attend Fox Island events or "Get your feet wet" at the local beaches of Puget Sound.

Summer Camps on and around the Key

Soon it will be time to put away the pencils, pack away the backpacks and get on with summer fun. There are quite a few opportunities for summer activities through organizations and churches this year.

It's always best to sign up early, as some of these fill quickly.

Boys & Girls Club in Gig Harbor, 8502 Skansie Ave., Gig Harbor (253) 502-4670.

Summer programs are scheduled June 21 through Aug. 20. There are programs for kids from 6 to 18. Weekly themes such as "Around the World," "Techno-logic," and "The Amazing Race," are designed for the 6 to 12 year olds, and for the 13 to 18 year olds there are leadership opportunities, community service projects and team building skills. This age group can also learn job skills and earn up to 200 volunteer hours for school.

Fees for the 6 to 12 year olds are $30 per week for those on the free lunch programs through their schools, $60 for those on reduced lunch, and $90 per week for those on full price lunch.

Fee for 13 to 18 year olds is a $60 per year membership.

There is also a registration fee of $15 for new members, however there are many scholarships and financial aid available, and no child is turned away for the inability to pay. Other discounts are available as well, including sibling discounts and military families.

Children's Home Society, 17010 S. Vaughn Road, Vaughn-884-5433

No Child Left Inside Camp runs July 12-30 for preschool through 5th grade. Cost $16 per week, and scholarships area available. Inquire at the office.

Kindercamp for ages 3-5, Summer Fun for grades 1 through 5 and Amigos for grades 6-8. There are community service volunteer opportunities for high school students.

YMCA Day Camp at Camp Seymour, 9725 Cramer Road KPN - 884-3392

This camp is for children entering grades 1-7. June 28-Aug. 20, cost $179 for YMCA members, $184 for non-members. Bring a sack lunch daily, camp provides a snack.

Campers will experience boating, archery, wall climbing, sports, beach exploration, reptiles, arts and crafts and swimming.

Of Bikinis, Baristas, and Beauty

By Dan Whitmarsh
Special to the KP News

They're showing up everywhere, from Everett to Bellevue to Seattle to Purdy, stirring up a strong response wherever they land. Coffee stands in the "bikini barista" tradition are here in our neighborhood, too, and I'm disappointed. Why?

First, this: Women, created in the image of God, have immeasurable intrinsic worth. God's image is shown in their intellect, in their wisdom, in their leadership skills. Women occupy some of the highest areas of leadership in our country. I serve in a church that believes men and women share equal rights and responsibilities in every area of leadership. In God's eyes, women are the full equal of men.

Unfortunately, for every Condoleezza Rice and Hillary Clinton who rises to Secretary of State, there is a Paris Hilton or Britney Spears making the case that sex appeal and 'dumb blonde' are a badge of honor. For every serious female actor, working hard at her craft, too many girls are getting their moment of fame in a Girls Gone Wild video. All rhetoric aside, bikini coffee stands take us back to a world where a woman's primary worth is her physical attractiveness to men.

Sexually exploitive promotions tell us a woman is valuable for her cleavage, her flat stomach, and her ability to flirt. They reinforce to men the belief that women exist for man's pleasure; that women are to be admired because of their sexuality, their bodies, and the way they flirt with customers who stop by for a cup of coffee.

Let's face it. I highly doubt anybody is driving away thinking "I admire her for her understanding of the political situation in Afghanistan." I even doubt anybody is driving away thinking "she makes a great cup of coffee."

I also happen to have a high view of sex. Sexuality is ultimately about an intimate, spiritual human connection. The church's aversion to sexual immorality and the cheapening of sex is not borne out of overly-sensitive sensibilities or Victorian aversions to anything tawdry, but instead out of a more incredible vision of sexuality than anything the world can imagine.

Any cheapening of sexuality is a cheapening of the deepest part of our selves. Any divorcing of sexuality from true, abiding relationship does damage to who we are as humans.

When sexuality is used as an advertising ploy, when it is removed from a committed relationship, it does harm to our souls.

When we take one of the most intimate connections between human beings and turn it into a gimmick, we deny ourselves as Human and move down the ladder to animal.

Using female sexuality to sell coffee cheapens sex and damages employees and customers by denying their humanity, their worth, and their ability to know and be known by others in respect and love.

That's why I'm saddened with these businesses. It's because these places cheapen women, turning them into one-dimensional caricatures for the enjoyment of so many men, and because they cheapen sex, the very thing they play on to draw customers in.

At this point, some would say, "Live and let live. If you don't like it, don't shop there. Don't foist your morality on others."

The problem is this: what these stands do cheapens all of us, it cheapens our community, it cheapens the lives of everybody here. So while I don't plan on standing outside with protest signs, I certainly do hope others will consider the impact their spending choices make in this world.

After all, we've got plenty of other coffee stands that are doing just fine without putting their girls in bikinis, tassels, and pasties. In fact, if you take the time, you'll find they have baristas who might impress you with their intellect, their knowledge, and their ability to brew a great cup of coffee.

EMS levy RENEWAL set to be on August 17th Ballot

The Key Peninsula Board of Fire Commissioners voted 4-1 to place the renewal of the expiring EMS Levy before the voters on August 17th 2010.

This is not a new tax. This 10-year EMS levy is a RENEWAL of the EMS levy that passed in 2000. Your YES Vote will restore the EMS levy to 50¢/$1000 of assessed value, an increase of 1.5 cents/$1000 AV which represents 38¢/month on a home valued at $300,000.

The renewal of this levy will ensure that The Key Peninsula Fire Department will be able to maintain current levels of emergency services, including at least 1 ambulance staffed 24/7 with a Paramedic.

If the EMS Levy is not renewed the department loses all of the money generated by the current EMS Levy when it expires at the end of 2010 and the department will lose approximately 1.2 million dollars from its annual budget.

Chief Lique and the Board of Fire Commissioners have been looking ahead into 2011 and looking at the impact of a failed EMS levy. They have ALL come to the same conclusion: Without an EMS levy the department will not be able to guarantee ambulance services, and they will not be able to guarantee a paramedic on duty 24/7. This unfortunately will end the Medic One Program the citizens fought so hard to get out here on the Key Peninsula.

The department will also have to lay-off almost 50% of its full time employees including firefighters and paramedics to balance the 2011 budget.

Letter From a Concerned Citizen in Home

Anne Nesbit
Home, WA

During the May 11th Fire Commissioner Meeting, Anne Nesbit, a Citizen of Home, WA, addressed the Board of Fire Commissioners. This is the letter she read aloud to those present:

I want to speak briefly because too much harm has already been done with irresponsible words of bitterness and selfish political opportunism. I'll speak briefly because this issue is too great to be obscured by fancy rhetoric and simply in the hope that my words will be taken to heart.

Mr. Vanity I ask you to weigh your conscience on the manner in which you are performing your duty to the people of this district; your constituents as you so often refer.

In a gateway article dated 2006 you stated "I've never backed off on a battle when it comes to principles." Whose principles Mr. Vanity? Yours? You stated in that same article that you "don't want to destroy this fire department." Yet your term during your commission has been marked by character assassination and a forum of hate has been established by your so-called principles as you hide behind a shield of immunity that you feel your position provides you.

When you took this office you took an oath as a commissioner to conduct yourself in a manner of good stewardship. A steward is defined as "one who conducts, supervises or manages something. The careful and responsible management of something entrusted to one's care."

You yourself stated in the latest Key Peninsula News, "they say it will mean 12 layoffs- I say no it will mean 100% layoffs because then it will be very easy for me to put an initiative on the ballot and go to a managed system." This, Sir, clearly implies that your agenda is to destroy this fire department.

You do not have a monopoly on truth Mr. Vanity. The facts are simple. This department must pass the EMS levy in order to continue ambulance service to this community. This EMS Levy must pass in order to prevent the layoff of at-least 12 district employees. This EMS levy must pass in order to continue to provide your constituents with prompt medical care. This is the EMS levy that you are opposed to the very same one you originally fought to create.

How can you oppose something that is in the best interest of the department and the community? How Sir is this an example of good stewardship? It is high time that you remember your oath and start supporting the department and the men and women within that you represent.

REGISTER TO VOTE

The EMS Levy must pass by a "Super Majority" this means that we need a 60% or better YES vote to continue Your ambulance services!

There are only 9,400 registered voters on the Key Peninsula and our population is over 18,000 people.

You can register to vote online or by paper voter registration application.

Best Father's Day gifts

Father's Day is June 20, and we wanted to hear from you, "What was the best Father's Day gift you ever gave or received?" We sent our own Irene Torres out to Capitol Lumber in Key Center and here's what you told us.

A gift I still have and treasure is an "Art and Soul" coffee mug my daughter made. It says "I love you, Dad."

Bob Delaney, Lake Minterwood

"The love of my children."

Michael Nydoske, Key Peninsula

"I was raised by my grandfather. He taught me to believe in myself."

George Leavitt, Lakebay

"The best gift was having my children present."

Ben Cramer, Tacoma (and Home)

"My two daughters."

Kirk Isaacson, Tacoma (Olman Point)

"Having the family together."

Alan Schulz, Penrose

"My kid...born just before Father's Day."

Brian (refused to give his last name), KP

"A picnic with my dad, my daughter, mother and I, at a Father's Day Church Retreat. I cancelled a date with a stewardess to be there."

Tim Shirley, Home

"I arranged for my dad to ride on a submarine for a week, from San Diego to Bremerton. He was an ex-Navy man. He'd been a frogman in World War II. He loved it."

Floyd Gammill, (no town stated)

"A beautiful blue shot glass, etched with flowers. I thought it was the most elegant gift. I bought it for my dad at Winkie's dime store when I was about 10. I still have it. My dad would have been 100 this year."

Lora Livingston, Longbranch

"I made a card."

Heidi Hendricks, Glencove

"Responsibility First"

What does it mean?

1. Your employees at the Fire Department must take the right course and agree to substance abuse testing.
2. No more lies, when someone is caught violating the policy. We admit it happened and take measures of correction. No more slap on the wrist punishments!

Until there is responsibility is there any reason to hire more or even keep those who are either the problem or make the problem worse by protecting those who have a problem?

Firefighters... take Responsibility in your hands and demand your union welcome substance abuse testing so we can pass a levy and move forward!

Responsibility First, Then new taxes!

“Themed” Businesses

I've been hearing about some local “themed baristas” for a while now. We have one on 302 and another in Purdy. I spent the winter holding out, peering in once in a while as I drove by, trying to get a glimpse of what was happening in there. From what I could gather at that distance and speed, the “theme” appeared to be a shivering young girl at 5 a.m. in a bikini or otherwise-revealing fabric arrangement. This trend from “coffee shop” to “themed coffee shop” appears to result from the increased tips and traffic that many of these baristas get as a result of the added exposure. It's interesting that this marketing trend develops in some businesses and not in others.

For example, why not Themed Banking? You could have female and male tellers and branch managers in various skimpy outfits taking paychecks and giving balances to leering customers. “Would you like your balance today?” “Hell yes! Anything to keep you tapping at that keypad!” And banks already have a drive-thru component, so that part should be a shoe-in for the cultural introduction of lucrative tip jars for bank tellers. (That first drive-thru line next to the building window would always be the longest.) You'd think the added skin would only boost their customer base and profits. And banks need lots of profits!

Or Themed Law Enforcement and Fire Departments. My goodness, the phones would be ringing off the hook for those. Themed Plumbing? Maybe not so much. But you never know. Could be the big opportunity for Shane the Super-Hot Plumber to get a business going, and might give him a competitive advantage over plumbers with the more traditional plumber attire that tends to only reveal a select portion of skin located just above the rump, near the base of the spine. I think Shane the Super-Hot Plumber might just have a market share there. Or Sandy the Super-Hot Plumber. Or maybe Sandy and Shane, the Super-Hot, High-Fiving Plumber Duo. The possibilities are endless.

We already have themed restaurants and bars, so I guess coffee is sort of an extension of that. You might think that the line between themed and regular business is that of skill level. Some people think service jobs like waiting tables, bartending, and barista-ering (?) are easy, but anyone who's worked the service world knows they're not. Plus there are plenty of less-skilled jobs that are not themed, such as Narrows Bridge Toll Taker. Why not theme that up a bit? Buff dudes wearing thongs, cuff links, and a smile taking your money as you bustle off to work. I imagine a good number of folks would turn in their Good-to-Go windshield stickers to add that to their daily routine. Who needs handy e-billing when a working girl can gawk at some cheerful almost-naked guy taking her cash at 5:43 in the morning?

My dad was in last month from the east coast. He'd seen barely-clad females handing out lattes and mochas to wide-eyed, tipping men on the national news, and wanted to check one of these places out on his visit, so he could brief the men back home. (Between that and people wearing guns openly, he thought Washington might be heaven.) We hit a themed place, and talked with a young girl in what appeared to be a rough sketch of the plans for a vaporous wisp of a bathing suit. I asked, through the full-length sliding window, if she was cold, and she said she had the heater blasting. She mentioned their tip jar had been stolen a few times. “Like it's not bad enough a girl has to subjugate her body for money?” she joked, with a smile on her face. It was a fun stop, and the coffee was great, but I'll keep going to my regular coffee shop. Why torture myself when I'm paying $4 for coffee? I can be tortured for free. Plus, I like my usual baristas with their street clothes, their cheer, and the terrific coffee they brew. But that's what's great about America! We choose the services that are best for us.

Or Themed Law Enforcement and Fire Departments. My goodness, the phones would be ringing off the hook for those.

What to Buy

When you buy 5/8 inches or 1 1/2 inches crushed gravel, you buy up to half a load, crushed all the way down to dirt. This dirt washes down and simply washes away. You are left with a half load of rock.

When you buy 3/4 inch down gravel or 1 1/2 inch down gravel, you buy all 3/4 inch rock or all 1 1/2 inch rock, and no dirt. This gravel lasts up to 4 or 5 times longer than the others. You actually get more rock for your money!!!

Fill in your hyperpotholes with 1 1/2 down. Then cover with 3/4 down which will give a smoother ride.

Did You Know?

That running an extra refrigerator or freezer in your house can add hundreds to your utility bill over the year?

- 7 out of 10 refrigerators sold are not ENERGY STAR qualified.
- 44% of displaced or discarded refrigerators stay on the grid.
- 23 million inefficient refrigerators manufactured before 1993 are still in use.
- 26% of all U.S. households have a second refrigerator and more are added every year.

That's why PenLight has teamed with JACO ENVIRONMENTAL who will come to your house, pick up your working refrigerator or freezer, and send you a check for $30.00!

Food Backpack for Kids Program needs funds

By Hugh McMillan, KP News

The Peninsula Communities of Faith Committee booth at the Key Peninsula Livable Community Fair last month had an exhibit explaining the "Food Backpack for Kids" program.

Wayne Lopez, a volunteer, explained that they learned that, "children in our local schools are receiving government assistance through the school lunch program and are provided breakfast and lunch, but on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays these same children are going without."

The committee formed the Food Backpack for Kids program and contacted Evergreen Elementary School which confirmed the need to provide food for children on weekends and holidays. The program now serves 46 Evergreen children. On Fridays, the school distributes backpacks with food items; on Mondays, the children return the backpacks to be refilled.

The backpacks are assembled and distributed to Evergreen through the Key Peninsula Lutheran Church.

The committee plans to expand the program to Vaughan Elementary. Before that, it must raise funds for the expansion of the program.

Lopez said that, "in order to do this, the program is in need of financial help from the Gig Harbor and Key Peninsula communities.

For more information, contact Evelyn Montero" at rayevem@yahoo.com

KP home to music, poetry event

By Kelly Maxfield, KP News

Words and Music, a concert series that includes both musicians and poets, was born from Jerry Libstaff's love of music and the desire to present performance art in a beautiful and intimate setting on the Key Peninsula.

Watermark Writers was created after Libstaff joined a writers group and found others who shared his vision. It is a non-profit organization.

The concerts are held in the living room of his home overlooking Case Inlet. Libstaff moved there in 2002 from Bellevue after he retired.

He created Watermark Writers with a board of three people who shared the same focus and goals. Watermark is a volunteer assisted organization with 501c3 non-profit status. A non-profit has very clear rules about how an organization is operated and funded, he said. Earnings may not be directed towards its members or board and it cannot be run for profit or attempt to influence political and legislative activities.

In 2006 the first Watermark Writers conference was held at Alderbrook Resort on Hood Canal and Libstaff was able to woo famous authors Robert Fulghum and John Nance to speak at the event.

"Fulghum is a Washington resident and he was happy to present a writers workshop when I called him," Libstaff said. "When I asked what his agenda for the workshop would be, he said he'd never done one before. That surprised me but I trusted his expertise as an author and let him do his thing."

The group continues to hold a yearly conference and has also developed a Young Writers workshop to guide aspiring youth authors. In 2008, Boston area songwriter Greg Greenway agreed to participate in the young writers event focusing on poetry and songwriting. Because of the success of the anthology published by the young authors a conversation between Greenway and Libstaff began that ultimately led to the idea of Words and Music.

Attendance is by invitation only via mail, email, and word of mouth. Reservations are required due to limited seating as the home can comfortably fit 50 people at the most.

"Adding more seating would ruin the intimate setting between the artist and audience," he said.

Many attendees are actually from outside the Key Peninsula area and word of mouth has been the event's greatest success to filling the seats, he said. While all are welcome Libstaff would like to see more from the KP community attending the concerts.

"This is a chance for local residents to hear amazing performers at a great price without having to leave our own backyard," he said.

Admission price is by donation and performers are given a percentage of the door. Monies collected above the performers' agreed upon percentage help to fund the Young Writers program. The idea of house concerts is a growing phenomenon across the United States as large venues close and ticket sales wane in the struggling economy. Most house concerts are "one-shot" invitation-only events where a different artist appears each month.

John Batdorf, who performed in May, said house concerts are becoming very popular. He said he has played many house concerts recently, but Libstaff's setting is one of the best so far.

The lineup for Words and Music is an impressive list of songwriters in the industry. Greg Greenway kicked off this year's series on March 12, and Cheryl Wheeler and local poet Scott Heffernan appeared April 23. Cheryl has been a songwriter since the age of 17 and released her first self-produced album in 1983. She has written songs for Garth Brooks, Suzy Bogus, Dan Seals, Kenny Loggins, and Bette Midler among other industry giants.

John Batdorf performed May 15. He began his music career in the 1970s as a recording artist with Batdorf, Rodney, and Silver and has played with Seals & Crofts, Dan Fogelberg, Linda Ronstadt, Fleetwood Mac, and The Doobie Brothers. In the 1980s he began concentrating on songwriting and singing background for other artists. He launched his TV songwriting career in the 1990s and is credited with scores for the CBS prime time show "Promised Land" and "Touched by an Angel." Today he continues to write music and is actively recording his own CDs.

Other artists in the series include Larry Murante and Randall Platt June 5 and Darden Smith July 24. Danny O'Keefe, David Wilcox, and Amy Petty will round out the August through October schedule. The Watermark Writer's website will be updated as performance dates are secured.

Be sure to check www.watermarkwriters.com and for reservations to the performances call Jerry Libstaff at 253-778-6559.

New Task Force to Look at Budget Sustainability

Peninsula School District has received another round of budget cuts for next year's budget, and expects further cuts in state funding in future years. Although layoffs will be averted next year through a variety of one-time measures, the district's strategy is to look for long-term fixes.

To look at the budget in the long term, the district is putting together a budget task force. The group will be comprised of representatives from the administration, board of directors, buildings, the union, parent groups, the district's audit committee and the community.

"We want a real diverse group. They will look at potential areas to review and try to find potential savings," Bouck says.

Once the task force identifies categories for review, subgroups will convene and examine those areas closely to look for potential efficiencies. They may study such areas as transportation, energy efficiency and staffing. The subgroups will report their findings to the task force, which will then prepare a report for the administration to enable staff to make recommendations to the board.

The work of the task force will enable the district to create a more sustainable budget and not rely solely on legislative decisions every spring.

"We know we're facing difficult budget cycles for a few years, and some changes take a bit more planning than two to three months, and require more thought," says PSD Finance Director Karen

Community members interested in serving on the district's budget task force or on a subgroup should contact Finance Director Karen Andersen at 630-1020 or email andercark@psd401.net

Andersen.

The task force will begin meeting later this summer, with the subgroups' work expected to begin around July.

"We know future school budget will be more difficult," says Deputy Superintendent Chuck Cuzzetto. "We need to make some long-term fixes."

Summer School

PSD will offer credit recovery classes in English, math and social studies during the summer. The four-day four-week sessions begin on July 12 and meet from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, Monday-Thursday at Henderson Bay High School. Students can register with their own high school counselors at any time. Tuition is $200. In addition, we will offer a free course to students who need to retake the HSE in reading and/or writing. Some transportation will be provided. For additional information, please visit www.psd401.net. Registration forms are available online as well, or see your school counselor.

Kindergarten Registration Ongoing

Kindergarten registration will continue at all eight elementary schools throughout the school year from 9:30 a.m. – 3:00 p.m. Monday – Friday. We look forward to meeting you!

Washington's Race to the Top

At the May 13 Board of Directors' meeting, the Board approved a motion to sign on for Washington's Race to the Top competitive grant. The application was submitted on Monday May 17.

Superintendent Forum June 1

The fourth in a series of four unstructured forums inviting community members to provide feedback, raise issues and ask questions pertinent to the Peninsula School District is scheduled for June 1 at Kopachuck Middle School from 6:30 p.m.-8:00 p.m. The meetings are held at middle school sites to afford community members the opportunity to visit their neighborhood schools. The evenings are hosted by Superintendent Terry Bouck and everyone is invited to participate—you do not need to have a student enrolled in the District.

Vaughn principal takes position in Gig Harbor

By Marsha Hart, KP News

It was 2:30 in the afternoon on a day in May and Mike Benoit, principal of Vaughn Elementary School, was handling four different student problems, a recess that kept changing from outside play to "rainy day recess," due to a strange weather pattern, and all of the necessary duties at the end of another school day.

He came to Vaughn when the current fifth graders did, and he will leave with them at the end of the year. They will go on to middle school, and so will Benoit. Though the students will most likely move on to Key Peninsula Middle School, Benoit has taken a job as principal at Harbor Ridge Middle School in Gig Harbor.

"I'm trying to enjoy every day here that I have," he said. "I've enjoyed my time here and it's a good school. I'm definitely going to miss it."

Benoit taught third and fourth grade, and then also fifth and sixth grade in the Federal Way School District before training to become a principal. Vaughn was his first job as an administrator, he said.

Quick to deflect attention from himself, he was insistent that any gains the school has had have come from the staff, teachers, volunteers, parents and students and the PTA. In his time at Vaughn, Benoit said the school has grown through the involvement of Communities in Schools, an organization that supports teachers, staff and students.

"We have volunteers who come in to tutor for 45 minutes at the end of the day on Tuesdays," he said. "They support our family math night, parenting class, and we have a high school mentoring program this year, and I'm proud of the way that program has evolved."

He is also proud of the relationship with Two Waters Arts Alliance, which brings hands-on art programs to the school, he said.

His pride extends to the teachers at Vaughn, many of whom have gone on to get Master's degrees and National Board Certification.

"The adults here are learners and model it for the kids," he said. "The staff here is focused on the whole child, not teaching to a test or just making sure we have good readers. We try to take the children where they are and help them move forward, whether it be emotionally or academically."

Becoming principal of a middle school is something Benoit knew he wanted to try, so when the opportunity came at Harbor Ridge, he went for it.

"I've thoroughly enjoyed my time here and I won't be far away. I'll be back to visit," he said.

Elementary school students to perform musical at civic center

By Dale Goodvin, KP News

Students from Minter Creek Elementary School who will be performing in Suessical the Musical, Jr. gave a preview of the show during the Livable Fair at the Key Peninsula Civic Center in May.

Two Waters Arts Alliance is funding the show, which features many of the beloved characters from the books of Dr. Seuss. Paula DeMoss, a teacher at Minter Creek is directing the musical with Faith Higgins.

"These kids are the most compassionate, caring, hardworking students I have ever worked with. They strive to help each other and never just think about themselves. This is obvious as you see them perform," DeMoss said.

Higgins, who graduated from Peninsula High School last year, was active in theater, winning the 5th Avenue Theater Award two years in a row.

She is the choreographer and acting director for the more than 60 students in "The kids in this musical are astounding. They are mature beyond their years and are extremely talented. These kids have shown me that they are far more capable than I ever imagined. Working with them has turned out to be a pure joy and has planted a new desire to teach in me," Higgins said.

with sound. Jonathan Bill, drama teacher at PHS, has loaned set pieces for the show, and Merrilee Kennedy, a local actor, has been instrumental in combining school with community for this event.

"She has gone above and beyond to support this adventure," DeMoss said of Kennedy.

Erika Arnett, program director of Arts In the Schools for TWAA has helped bring everyone in the school and community together for this show, and Higgin's mother is the seamstress for the production.

"It is absolutely awesome how much support we are getting," DeMoss said.

As an actress and singer who has a love for musicals, Higgins said TWAA is helping spark a passion in young people by funding the show.

"TWAA is truly living out its mission to provide opportunities that will develop a love and appreciation of the arts for youth. These kids are falling in love with theater," Higgins said.

"The key to your next adventure"

Running with a Purpose

By Kelly Maxfield, KP News

The Peninsula Seahawks boys' track team achieved many goals this season, including finishing undefeated in the South Puget Sound League. They took home first place honors in the Tacoma, Shelton, Mountain, and Bellevue Invitational meets this spring. Many of the same long-distance runners on the track squad placed second in state this fall as members of the PHS Cross Country Team. The 3A State Track & Field Championships was held May 27- 29 at Mount Tahoma High School in Tacoma.

At the 50th Annual Shelton Invitational on May 1, seniors Chris Borg and David Lee finished one-two respectively in the 3200-meter race helping the Seahawks towards a first place finish. Borg ran a 9:27.33 and Lee a 9:36.37. Both Chris and David have set school records during their sophomore year at Peninsula. Curtis King and Nick Borg, both current sophomores on the track squad, are working on breaking those records. All the boys are focused and excel in academics and scouting. They are proudly known as the "Nerd Mafia" throughout the halls of the school.

"This is a neat group of boys that have grown up running together," says CarrieAnn Lee, mother of senior David Lee. David comes from a family of 10 children with a long history of running and athletics. Eight out of 10 siblings have participated in Track & Field and/or Cross Country at the high school level. CarrieAnn was a runner at Seattle's Roosevelt High School and father Kerry played football and basketball at the same school. David is mulling over several offers to continue his passion for running at the college level. He was named MVP of the Peninsula Cross Country team two years in a row.

Chris Borg plans to attend the University of Portland to study Sports Management and continue his running career. He has played several sports growing up in the Gig Harbor area but has focused exclusively on running for the last few years. Borg was named Athlete of the Year by the South Puget Sound League after finishing undefeated in the cross country season.

Curtiss Hall heads the undefeated Seahawk track team along with several assistant coaches working with individual athletes in their specialties. Joel Wingard has coached the distance track runners and cross country teams at Peninsula for a number of years and has been coaxed out of retirement several times. He is a passionate devotee to long distance running leading the cross country squad to an 8-0 league finish this fall and the second place in the state championships.

Peninsula High School had five boys participating in the SPSL track meet May 21 and 22 at Mt. Tahoma High School. Chris Borg, David Lee, Nick Borg, and Curtis Hall make up 25 percent of the competitive field running in the 3200-meter race. Senior Keegan Hall, Coach Curtiss Hall's son, ran in the 800-meter event. The Hawks have set their sights on adding to the Peninsula trophy case and taking the next step towards the state championships on Memorial Day weekend.

PHS golfer still recovering

Staff Report

The Peninsula High School's girls golf team members who played in the district tournament in May wanted to show their support of their team captain Anna Heacox. Heacox was seriously injured in a car accident in April.

Affectionately known as Anna Banana, the girls had new shirts made for the tournament with Team Anna on the sleeve, the PHS logo beneath, and an embroidered banana on the bottom.

"The moment I found out (about the accident) I went to the hospital," said golf coach Larry Gilhuly. "I told the team Anna will be OK. I'm optimistic. She is a strong girl, and seeing her yesterday I'm even more optimistic. She has her sense of humor back."

Heacox is still in the Intensive Care Unit, but Gilhuly said she has a lot of people praying for her.

"She is amazing. The broken bone around her eye and her vertebrae have healed themselves," he said. "She didn't have surgery for those. I'm very optimistic and hope she will be in rehab soon."

A foundation has been set up in Anna's name at Sound Credit Union.

requested a private ambulance we were notified there were no units to send out here," he said. "It is not a promising alternative, but it's a situation where we have to work through whatever the incident is, and we have to work through as fast as we can, but it will be different from the service we can deliver today."

If the levy does fail and FD 16 cannot guarantee ambulance services, the Key Peninsula could be facing a different emergency medical response than the one it currently has, Lique said.

The district has a mutual aid agreement with Gig Harbor District 5, Mason County and South Kitsap. That agreement means that when FD 16 personnel need backup, one of those units will respond if they have personnel to do so.

But that agreement is dependent upon FD 16 participating in response to those districts when they need it, Lique said.

"We received a letter from South

Kitsap, and I understand other agencies are drafting similar letters, saying if voters choose not to support the EMS system on the Key Peninsula, their agencies are not in a position that they can support our agency. They won't send their transport here unless we can reciprocate with them."

Bills for a private ambulance would be the responsibility of the patient, and currently there is no out-of-pocket expense for patients who live on the Key Peninsula or pay taxes here.

The EMS levy pays any portion of the ambulance bill that the insurance doesn't cover, Lique said.

"I think the important thing for people to realize is that they really have to evaluate the reason they are saying yes or no (to the levy.) If they are making that decision in an environment of understanding there are or are not going to be ambulances, and the majority make the decision there will not be ambulances on the KP, then that is the direction we can move. I encourage people not to cloud that issue with a bunch of other stuff that is out there."

OBITUARIES

Donald Axthelm

Donald Gene Axthelm, 22, from Port Orchard, Wash., died May 8, 2010. He was born in Bartlesville, Oklahoma to Melissa Axthelm on Nov. 22, 1987. In 1990 he came to reside with Paul and Pat Kunzl, his great uncle and aunt, who raised Donald as their own son. He attended Vaughn Community Church and made life long friends there. He graduated from Peninsula High School in 2006 where he was on the varsity swim team and played soccer. He was active in 4-H and loved showing his dog, Clifford. At the time of his death, he was working as a residential construction worker. Donald had a kind and gentle manner, which was reflected in his smile that would light up a room. Those that love him and knew him thought of him as a gentle giant, teddy bear and a big goof. Although his life was short, he touched many lives and was loved by many. He is survived by parents, Paul and Pat Kunzl, Washington, his mother, Melissa Axthelm, Texas, his grandparents, Don and Kathy Axthelm, Kansas and his siblings, Bobbi Casey, Dana Sikes (Brad), Ticee Bauer (Rob), Seth Kunzl (Meghan), Colton and Richael Polk, his 8 month old daughter, Jocelyn Axthelm, and her mother Arielle Stafford. In lieu of flowers, please send donations made payable to Raymond James with a memo specifying the Donald Gene Axthelm Memorial Fund for Jocelyn Axthelm. Checks may be mailed to Fleury Financial Group, 10049 Kitsap Mall Blvd., Suite 309, Silverdale, WA 98383.

Frederick Jaggi

Frederick W. Jaggi of Gig Harbor was born June 11, 1941 to Fred and Loretta Jaggi. He passed away April 23, 2010 at his home in Gig Harbor. He is survived by his son John Jaggi and his wife Amber of Gig Harbor, daughter Tina Jaggi-Boldman and grandson John Boldman of Puyallup, brother Edwin Jaggi of Tacoma and sister Linda Hendricks of Olympia.

JAGGI

Fred was a third generation resident on the Key Peninsula. He married in 1964 and raised his two children on the family property, which was his greatest achievement. He was extremely proud of both of his children and their life accomplishments.

Fred had a long working career beginning at the Allen Oyster Company and settling in the timber industry, where he worked for Vaughn Bay Lumber and Hart Brothers Logging. In his later years he worked with his son on various logging and construction projects. Fred enjoyed outdoors projects, including gardening and cutting firewood, but most of all he loved cooking and celebrating with good friends. He made all those who knew him feel special and will be missed by many.

A celebration of his life was held at his residence on May 8, 2010. Many thanks extended to all those who attended his memorial and demonstrated their love and support.

Special thanks to his loving caregivers Marge, Levan, and Patty Marcum.
